CLASS HISTORY

As we, the class of 1974, draw our high school years to a close, there rise within each of us the mixed emotions that beset almost every senior who peers over the edge of graduation to see the great open space, the frontier which is his future.

The sentiments we feel at this time are varied. At one moment, it's relief — a feeling that after four long years of the same walls, the same teachers, the same classrooms, we are free. In the same moment, there is something inside us that holds us here — some unspeakable force which has entwined itself within the fabric of our lives and sadly reminds us of the youth that has been slowly, silently slipping away from us during the past four years. We are looking in two directions — not only to the future, but to the past, with fond memories of the happy times, the sad times, the troubled and the laughing times that we, as a class, have shared together.

On September 5, 1970, we entered the high school — typically eager, awkward, and naive little freshmen. The girls held their hands behind them as they walked past the library, where the worldly senior men all convened, and we all tried to act very cool as we looked for cafeteria A over by the library. When the time came, we built the unforgettable "abominable snowman" float for Homecoming, 1970. As the future class of 1974, we promised "we'll do more," and we did. You name it, we did more of it. Our frosh football team, with a whole line-up of stars had an undefeated season. And the parties — oh, those freshman parties.

Sophomore year was soon upon us and we were growing up. No longer awkward freshmen, we carried ourselves with a bit more confidence and the dignity of a class experienced in high school affairs. With our number, '74 inscribed dramatically on the rock outside, we were finally recognized as a real part of SHS. But we had yet a long way to go. Our Homecoming float was not a great success and we were still groping about in the dark, torn between the enthusiasm of freshman year and the renewed unity that junior year brings.

At long last, our junior year, so full of promise, arrived as the class of 1974 anxiously awaited the days to come. It materialized as a year of success, of learning and of memorable experiences.

Our first brainchild was the impressive dragon float — a masterpiece from the chicken wire to the sickly green paint that left its mark on almost every article of clothing we wore. We won first prize with it, and our pride mounted as we set the scene for our next big first, "Looney Tunes."

Our Junior Variety Show featured everything in entertainment, from a soulful rendition of "The House of the Rising Sun" to a nostalgic look at "Sippin' Cider." The after-show activities included an evening at the Aloha and the unbelievably rowdy party in Minot that had us rocking from the rafters to the J. Geils Band.

As springtime drew near, the class of 1974 grew restless and hence, our first "Junior Skip Day" was held. For those who dared "shake off" their classes, a day of fun, indulgence and, in some cases, mishap followed. Of course, we all "knew better," but when did that ever make a difference?

Our Junior Prom was an unforgettable finale for a year of triumph that bid a fond farewell to the carefree underclassmen years. We were the first class to break SHS tradition by taking our prom out of the gym and to the Cliff Hotel, where we elegantly hosted the evening of dinner and dance on that beautiful spring night.

As the year came to an end, we were prepared to take up the challenge of seniordom. No longer the same children who had, only three years before, entered high school as innocent freshmen, we were finally to be looked up to, to set an example, to bear the fruit of our experience.

Perhaps our greatest legacy to those who would follow was the OCDC tradition. The Old Colony Driving Club, or Diving Club, or Day Camp (whatever our parents were most likely to believe) held its open meetings most Friday and Saturday nights in the Glades and featured such crowd-pleasing sports as guzzling contests and smoking marathons. It brought us all together as we ushered in our final year as the class of 1974 in Scituate High School.

As seniors, we watched the Scituate Sailors' Marching Band, its Drill Team and its Twirlers perform at Schaefer Stadium. When winter arrived and the famed parking lot parties subsided, we withdrew indoors to Cafeteria B and the Advanced Bio rooms where we proceeded to sever the latissimus dorsi and the corpus spongiosum of our beautiful bio cats. Thus the year continued as we longingly awaited that June day of Graduation.

Our senior year has seen the country in turmoil. It has been "The year of the crises," as we all learn that there is a world outside the secure walls of SHS that will demand of us all that we have to give.

Until then, we'll continue to go out to lunch during fifth period, and we'll "dream" through the senioritis stage, trying to persuade ourselves that we are all still the same. But living inside each of us are not just the memories of four great years together, but the hopes and fears for the future as we, the aging children of SHS depart.

. . . Goodbye yellow brick road.

Time it was

. . . And what a time it was:

it was . . .

A time of promises,

A time of confidences.

Long ago

. . . It must be

I have a photograph

Preserve your memories,

. . . They're all that's left to you.

JAMES MULLIN Moon
Do all the good you can, in all the ways you can, to all the people you can, as long as ever you can.

NANCY MULLIN Nancy
I do not hear the words you said, instead I heard the love.

DANIEL MURPHY Danny
Truth and honesty have no need of loud protestations.

CLAUDIA NADEAU Claude
Hi!!!

DAVID NELSON Dave
Show me the way to go home.

SCOTT NEWKIRK Flipper
What lies behind him and what lies before him are nothing compared to what lies within him.

And Malt does more than Milton can to justify God's ways to man.

ALEXANDRA NOYES Alex
To err is human, to forgive divine.

JOSEPH OBERT Joe
He who is true to one friend, thus proves himself worthy of many.

MARGARET O'BRIEN Peggy
I knew who I was when I got up this morning, but I must have changed several times since then.

CHRISTOPHER O'DONNELL Chris
Enjoy yourself! It's later than you think.

CATHERINE O'CONNELL Pidgeon
Her eyes are so because they gleam with an unbreakable dream.

DAVID OGDEN Dave
Our Mind and Body are close. Our Thoughts and Feelings are one. Yet still, we are so far apart.

COLLEEN A. O'HARA Underdog
Fun grows with happiness, sunshine, and laughter, and lives as a smile in your heart ever after.

KAREN OHRENBERGER Berger
And all the beauty in the place is in thy heart and on thy face.

NANCY O'KEEFE Irish
We can only live as we ought to, listen to the wind and the sea, and be grateful.

CLAUDIA OLIVO Claudia
I never have to change, but I feel I must transpire.

THOMAS PARKINSON Tom
Music is the shorthand of emotion.

LOIS OUELLETTE Lois
If your heart speaks louder than your mind — listen to it.
If it speaks softer — quiet the mind.

MARGARET PERRY Margo
Officious, innocent, sincere; Of every friendless name a friend.

MARK PETERS
Long live the Stonewall Revolution!

ROBIN RICHTER Tweedy Bird
Yesterday's history, tomorrow's a mystery, so live for today.

PATRICK RILEY Pat
Greatness is not in exalted position; Greatness is for he who refuses position.

ELIZABETH ROCKWELL Liz
Give to the world the best you have and the best will come back to you.

ALICE ROCHE Al
There are three things extremely hard: steel, a diamond,
and to know oneself.

JOHN V. ROCHE Jack
He is full of valor, as of kindness; princely in both.

ALMA ROGERS Alma
I listen to the wind, to the wind of my soul. Where I'll

Who really knows what an SGBC girl goes through, other than one who has . . . burned her fingers Friday nights while making candy apples . . . arrived at 11 o'clock Saturday morning to clean the Galley . . . been frostbitten while selling coke . . . filled up two dozen popcorn boxes only to have them blown over by a gust of wind . . . run out of coffee cups before half time at 10° below . . . been yelled at for the rising food prices . . . and then scrubbed the pans while the fans went home to celebrate. Never the less, our efforts were rewarded as we saw the smiling faces of our football heroes, emerging from the locker room. But of course the question still remains, "What are a bunch of beautiful girls like us doing in a place like this?"

STUDENT COUNCIL

For the Student Council, this year has been a trial of the revised constitution. Although we encountered several difficulties within the new system, we managed to overcome them and to accomplish some long awaited projects, such as the remodeling of the quadrangle. Student interest in the Appeals Board flared after the preliminary case was held in September. Our winter plans include a winter carnival and a Modular Day.

A black and white photograph of a forest path. Sunlight filters through the trees, creating a bright, hazy effect in the upper center. Long shadows of the trees are cast across the path, which is covered in fallen leaves and small plants. The trees are tall and thin, with bare branches visible against the light.

Gates and Sons

North Scituate and Scituate Harbor

Always leave them laughing
When you say goodbye.

I meant to do my work today
But a brown bird sang in the apple tree,
And a butterfly flittered across the field,
And all the leaves were calling to me.

And the wind went sighing over the land,
Tossing the grasses to and fro,
And a rainbow held out its shining hand,
So what could I do but laugh and go?

Richard Le Gallienne

Now we of '73-'74 fade away

Some leave behind

so much —

a school

dear friends

and more

Some stay

We've had good times

bad times

easy times

hard times.

We turn and face each other

So many things to remember.

We realize that we must

Make the break

be ready for new times

and new people

— but maybe some old, too.

We turn around,

walk away

As a tear streaks down our faces

— we smile
